

The botanical exploration of Angola by Germans during the 19th and 20th centuries, with biographical sketches and notes on collections and herbaria – Errata

E. Figueiredo^{1,*}, G.F. Smith¹, S. Dressler²

Citation: Figueiredo E, Smith GF, Dressler S. 2020. The botanical exploration of Angola by Germans during the 19th and 20th centuries, with biographical sketches and notes on collections and herbaria – Errata. Blumea 65 (2): 176–177. <https://doi.org/10.3767/blumea.2020.65.02.09>. Effectively published online: 28 October 2020.

The article 'The botanical exploration of Angola by Germans during the 19th and 20th centuries, with biographical sketches and notes on collections and herbaria' (Figueiredo et al. 2020; <https://doi.org/10.3767/blumea.2020.65.02.06>) includes errors in Fig. 8 (inset) (Figueiredo et al. 2020: 135) and Fig. 17 (Figueiredo et al. 2020: 146). The corrected versions of the figures are:

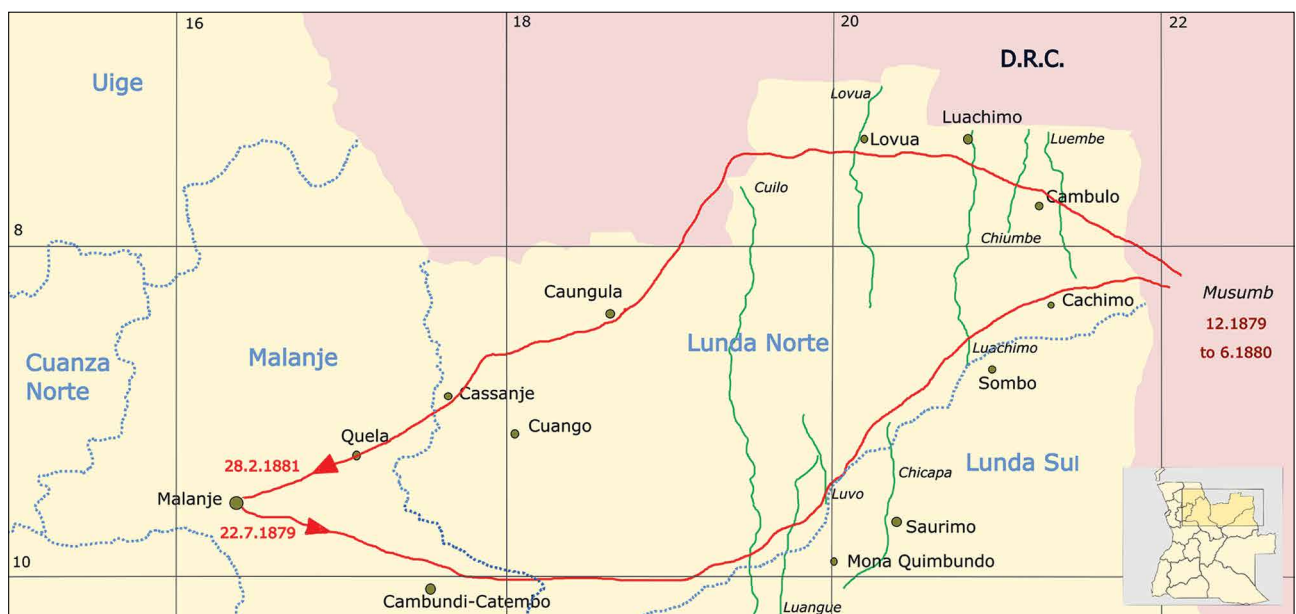

Fig. 8 Itinerary of the expedition of Maximilian Buchner in Angola from 22 July 1879 to 28 February 1881.

¹ Department of Botany, Nelson Mandela University, P.O. Box 77000, Port Elizabeth, 6031 South Africa; corresponding author email: epnfigueiredo@gmail.com.

² Botanik und molekulare Evolutionsforschung, Senckenberg Forschungsinstitut, Senckenberganlage 25, D-60325 Frankfurt/M., Germany.

Fig. 17 Ferdinand Christian Naumann (1841–1902). Photographer unknown. (Archiv J. Pusch Bad Frankenhausen, Original Naturkundemuseum Gera, Nr. 2993).

In the acknowledgements (Figueiredo et al. 2020: 157) ‘Silvain’ is to be corrected to ‘Sylvain’, and ‘Hans Kruijer is thanked for editing the photos’ should be added.

REFERENCE

Figueiredo E, Smith GF, Dressler S. 2020. The botanical exploration of Angola by Germans during the 19th and 20th centuries, with biographical sketches and notes on collections and herbaria. Blumea 65: 126–161. <https://doi.org/10.3767/blumea.2020.65.02.06>.