In the original version of this Article, asymmetric 95% confidence intervals for the interval between the estimated felling date and production date were inadvertently expressed using a ± notation. This notation implies symmetry around the mean, whereas the reported numerical confidence intervals, listed in Table 1, are asymmetric. The underlying analyses and the numerical confidence interval values are correct.

The affected notations in the Abstract and Results have been adjusted to report the confidence intervals appropriately. In the Abstract, the values previously reported as 2.8 ± 2.5, 3.4 ± 2.4, and 7.8 ± 1.7 have been corrected to 95% confidence intervals of 0.3–5.6, 1.0–6.1, and 6.1–9.6, respectively. The redundant ± notations in Table 1 and in the Results section have been removed.
